Return to questions list

You can answer the question (remember: in English language) and then you can use one of the buttons below:

With this button, your answer will be saved and the system will show you the next question.

If the question is the last, the system will show the first (the questions are basically considered as a closed circle).

With this button, your answer will NOT be saved and the system will show you the next question.

If the question is the last, the system will show the first (the questions are basically considered as a closed circle).

With this button, your answer will NOT be saved and the system will return to the control panel.

Important things to remember

To answer questions you can start from any question, not necessarily the first one.

You can correct your answers repetitively, until you are satisfied.

Access to the control panel is allowed only during the hours set for the examination.

If you try to log on before or after these hours, the system will not allow you to enter the site.
